Tips to Help Parents Effectively Manage Holiday Stress
For many of us, the holiday season can bring an increased sense of family responsibility and, along with it, additional feelings of stress. Advertisements about the joys of the season can seem lost on us as we scurry around trying to do even more than usual. It's easy to feel overwhelmed. Unfortunately, we may turn to unhealthy stress management behaviors such as overindulging in eating or drinking to keep going. These actions don't help and often make us feel worse. There are better, healthier, and longer-lasting techniques we can use to make holiday stress -- and other stressful times -- more manageable.

Try to remember these helpful tips if you begin to see yourself turning into the Grinch:

- Take care of yourself: It is important that we pay attention to our own needs and feelings during the holiday season. We can find fun, enjoyable and relaxing activities for ourselves and our families. By keeping our minds and bodies healthy, we are primed to deal with stressful situations when they arise. Consider cutting back television viewing for kids and getting the family out together for fresh air and a winter walk. Physical activity can help us feel better and sleep well, while reducing sedentary time and possible exposure to stress-inducing advertisements.

- Set expectations: It is helpful to set realistic expectations for gifts and holiday activities. Depending on a child's age, we can use this opportunity to teach kids about the value of money and responsible spending. We need to remember to pare down our own expectations too. Instead of trying to take on everything, we need to identify the most important holiday tasks and take small concrete steps to accomplish them.

- Keep things in perspective: On the whole, the holiday season is short. It helps to maintain a broader context and a longer-term perspective. We can ask ourselves, "What's the worst thing that could happen this holiday?" Our greatest fears may not happen and, if they do, we can tap our strengths and the help of others to manage them. There will be time after the holiday season to follow up or do more of things we've overlooked or did not have the time to do during the holidays.

- Initiate conversations about the season: It can be helpful to have conversations with our kids about the variety of different holiday traditions our families, friends and others may celebrate. Parents can use this time as an opportunity to discuss how some families may not participate in the same holiday traditions as others. Not everyone needs to be the same. It is important to teach open-mindedness about others and their celebrations.

- Strengthen social connections: We know that strong, supportive relationships help us manage all kinds of challenges. So, we can view the holidays as a time to reconnect with the positive people in our lives. Accepting help and support from those who care about us can help alleviate stress. Also, volunteering at a local charity on our own or with family can be another way to make connections; helping others often makes us feel better, too.

Source: American Psychological Association
Now that you know you can handle anything this holiday season, let the family fun begin! These five winter decorations made mostly from recyclable, household materials will be light on the pocketbook and provide hours of amusement while you and your children create memories together ❤️
BE THEIR EVERYDAY HERO!

You love your kids. You want what’s best for them. Every day, the things you do help your children learn.

OK! ✓
Tell me more.

GOT IT!
What can I do?

TXT EverydayHero to 77453 for weekly tips on how you can create learning experiences for your kids... EVERYDAY

Sign up for Suncoast Grade-Level Reading Tips! Text EVERYDAYHERO to 77453 to receive up to four messages a week. Message and data rates apply. Text STOP to cancel or HELP for help. #EverydayHeroes.
Go to gradelvelreadingsuncoast.net/ours/ for privacy and terms.

LEARN MORE
Kindness in words creates confidence.
Kindness in thinking creates profoundness.
Kindness in giving creates love.

- Lao Tzu

Get Connected

Visit the Suncoast Campaign for Grade-Level Reading "Library" Archive

A BIG THANK YOU!
Suncoast Campaign for Grade-Level Reading Facebook just passed 1,000 likes! @SuncoastCGLR's Twitter account is close behind with 941. Help us reach 1,000 by the end of December :-D

Stay in touch on Twitter:
@SuncoastCGLR @ThePattersonFdn @MagnifyGood @ManateeCF @manalibraries
@SpireCoLab @YmcaReads @ELC_Sarasota @BBBSSUN @sarasotaschools
CONNECT (English):

CONNECT (Spanish):

We welcome your thoughts.
Contact us at info@GradeLevelReadingSuncoast.net.

Suncoast Campaign for Grade-Level Reading Lead

Manatee Lead

Sarasota Lead

http://www.gradelevelreadingsuncoast.net/