The Sarasota County Comprehensive Plan (Comp Plan) is an official public document adopted by the Sarasota County Commission to guide decisions relating to the physical development of the county. The contents of the plan are inclusive—general and long range. It includes planning that is appropriate for all geographical parts of the county and is consistent with relevant federal and state laws, and local, regional, and community development.

The contents of the plan are inclusive—general and long range. It includes planning that is appropriate for all geographical parts of the county and is consistent with relevant federal and state laws, and local, regional, and community development. This type of planning seeks to include general policies and directions, as well as specific goals, "long range" meaning that the work relates to present and future uses of the area. The Comprehensive plan is adopted in an officially recognized form in accordance with the community's general and local demographics projections.
